

Reflections from first project with Rust

Gongahkia

1 May 2023

Main learning pointers

1. Always remember to use `.trim_end()` when dealing with user input, since a newline character (`\n`) is appended to user input when the carriage return (enter key) character is hit.
 - This tip alone will save you hours of time debugging when working with simple user input.

Useful links

- Debug statement